I love how simple it is! There are many one-click tasks that utilize artificial intelligence. This saves time for our employees and managers. The dataviews are very helpful for organizing and managing the data. I love the push notifications and ease of the product.

It was a pretty easy transition from [UKG Workforce] Central® to [UKG] Dimensions. It made for a lot less work. There are more options that we never had before and are utilizing now.

I really love dataviews/reporting features. The mobile access is really a great feature for the working-from-home atmosphere we are living in now due to COVID. UKG Dimensions also looks much more modern. We only just ran our first payroll last week, but it really was a lot faster than Workforce Central.

UKG is user friendly, can be used with mobile devices, and is customizable to each employee’s individual wants/needs. It puts the responsibility into the employees’ hands, and they can manage their timecards with little help from management. They can submit PTO requests, transfer their hours into different departments, fix missed punches, etc., without having to find a manager to do it for them. It then sends that information to their manager for approval.

UKG saves payroll admins a lot of time when closing payroll every week. Time-off requests are no longer manual. Attendance is being tracked accurately. Employees are now able to use their mobile devices to track time-off requests and balances, and view [their] time and schedules. Managers use the mobile app to approve timecards and time-off requests and track attendance. Integration is easy to manage. Dashboard Tiles for managers are very informative.

[UKG] Dimensions has given our employees the ability to own their data! Employees are able to access their timecards, schedules, and paystubs from anywhere using their mobile devices, and this frees up managers to be able to focus on management duties!
Great workforce management tool. [UKG]

Dimensions offers an intuitive user interface, embedded analytics, and machine learning usage in forecasting and schedule generation. There are many tools available to managers to help them in daily administrative tasks.

The new UKG Dimensions solution has provided enhanced capability and process improvements. [The] new solution has provided an improved user experience, reporting, and analytics. It has helped eliminate manual paper-based processes and laid a foundation for future enhancements in scheduling, tracking, and analytics.
UKG Dimensions provided everything I was looking for in a timekeeping system, the cloud and mobile being the biggest. We have been on Dimensions a year with minimal issues. Global Support is always helpful and prompt. Everyone I have worked with has always been pleasant and knowledgeable. UKG is a very dependable company.

User interface, ease of use, and dashboards are the top three things related to the functionality of the program. In addition, the customer service was phenomenal. From the sales contact to the implementation team, we were kept informed every step of the way. The implementation team was knowledgeable, available, and helpful. The transition from implementation to customer care was seamless.

Overall experience is great. We were pleased with the implementation process. The process is built on three phases — Strategy Development, Collaboration, and Adoption. It involved SME from across several business units within the organization. Getting them all up to speed on the materials was relatively easy. The materials and sessions provided by UKG aided greatly in learning and adoption of the product.
